UNIVERSITY ARCHIVES

A University Education is a varied and richly rewarding experience. Of course, the academic courses that attracted you to Concordia are important. In their classrooms, laboratories and studios you began to acquire the knowledge and skills which will lead to successful careers in the increasingly knowledge based economy of the 21st century.

But the Concordia experience comprises much more. There is the interaction with students and professors of different ages, languages, religions and ethnic backgrounds. There is the challenge of student activities – athletic, cultural, political and social. There is – and perhaps most important – the opportunity to come to know oneself, to feel one's strength and potential, to strive toward personal self-realization.

It is a highly complex experience, this university education. It can be intimidating and its challenges can constitute a heavy burden, especially for those who combine studies with work and family obligations. It can carry its share of disappointments and the shattering of comfortable illusions. But it can be and, fortunately, usually is a tremendous period of personal growth and development, a period during which life long bonds are forged with friends, professors, causes, professions and fields of endeavours. It is common place for men and women with a lifetime of experiences and achievements behind them, to single out their years at university as among the most important in their lives.

It has been our task as professors, support staff and administrators to create a learning and interactive environment that makes this possible. I hope we have succeeded in this.

As you receive your degrees, certificates and diplomas, you join a family of more than 100,000 Concordia alumni throughout the world. It is a family to be proud of and one that, I trust, you will want to be close to over the years.

The Concordia yearbook is a door through which the memories of your university years can be easily accessed. Through it and the Concordia University Alumni Association, which I hope you will join, links with the University can remain strong forever.

Frederick H. Lowy, OC, MD, LLD
Rector & Vice-Chancellor

Congratulations - you are now a graduate of Concordia University. As you begin your next journey, I hope you will remember your Concordia years with pride and accomplishment.

The hurdles you have faced, the people you have met, and the events that have changed or challenged you are all part of who you are today. This yearbook provides a unique remembrance of your days at Concordia.

I hope that your life has been enriched by the values, vision and diversity of your university. I also hope that your experiences and your education will assist you in dealing compassionately and fairly with the challenges that face you. The choice is yours to carry the mantle to ensure the wellbeing of our world.

On behalf of Concordia, I wish you much success and happiness.

Concordia salus!

Concordia and Montreal:

So many things to learn from, so many experiences to live...

Old Montréal and the Old Port

The old city and its attending port are literally a five-minute walk from downtown. During the day much shopping gets done in the shops along Saint-Paul and Notre-Dame streets, and at night jazz clubs, bars, pubs and boîtes à chansons-friendly bars given over to the singing of French folk songs-rock late and loud.

One thousand years of history and architecture are recorded in the museums and buildings of Old Montréal. As you stroll along the serpentine cobbles, stop at City Hall to admire its Second-Empire architecture, visit the archeological crypt under Pointe-à-Callière, Montréal's Museum of Archaeology and History, dance with the street performers on Place Jacques Cartier, and visit the Marché Bonsecours, for its magnificent tin-plated dome, and for its terrasses and designer boutiques.

From Old Montréal, all roads south lead to the Old Port and an up-close-and-spectacular view of the St.-Lawrence River. As you stand on the shores of this mighty waterway, you'll see why the fur trading post established here by a group of French settlers in 1611 grew to become North America's largest commercial hub.

Today, impressive harbour-front facilities include a 2.5-kilometre-long recreational park along the river with promenades for skating, cycling or just ambling along, a state-of the art Science Center, with interactive exhibits, movie game and an IMAX theatre, river cruises, for romantic dinners, bouquinistes, vendors of rare books, and warm, friendly bars where you can relax over a drink or a latté with a clear view of the action.

Life's Sciences

From the mighty St. Lawrence River at the city's edge, to the view from atop beautiful Mount Royal in the city's centre, Montréal is an island in tune with the songs of mother nature, offering open-air activities for everyone. After all, a whopping ten percent of this city is protected green space.

Access the St. Lawrence River through the visitor-friendly Old Port. Stop to explore the Science Centre, an amazing complex where the whole family can learn with delight thanks to an IMAX screen and three exhibition halls containing a plethora of hands-on games, puzzles and experiments. Cross the waves to Île Sainte-Hélène to check out the Environment Canada's Biosphère, the futuristic dome built for Expo 67. Stroll through parc Jean-Drapeau, a mosaic of greenery and water, complete with a sandy beach, secluded picnic areas and luscious gardens. Down on the Lachine Canal, you'll discover how the developing fur trade led to the Canal being built to allow ships to bypass the rapids, making Montréal one of the most important trading posts on the continent.

Hochelaga-Maisonneuve District

A mere 15-minute cab ride from downtown, Hochelaga-Maisonneuve is proud of its industrial roots. Today, most of the factories have been creatively

Botanical Garden

The Montréal Botanical Garden, established in 1931, is considered to be one of the world's major botanical showcases. Its 10 exhibition greenhouses and over 30 gardens abound with the colours and fragrances of the world and boasts more than 21,000 species and varieties of plants. The Chinese and Japanese Gardens offer exotic landscapes, whereas the Tree House displays Québec's abundant forest wealth. In the First Nations Garden, you can discover the relationship the 11 Amerindian and Inuit nations of Québec have always maintained with the world of plants.

converted, and its impressive legacy consists of lovingly preserved Beaux-Arts-style buildings and stately churches. This is where you'll find the Botanical Gardens, the Insectarium, the Biodôme and, of course, the Olympic Park.

Start at the Botanical Gardens, with its ten exhibition greenhouses and thirty outdoor gardens filled with an infinite variety of flowers, plants, bushes and trees from all over the world. Discover the exotic fragrances and intricate masterpieces of the Chinese and Japanese gardens. Explore the riches of Québec's forests in the Tree House. And take a history lesson in the First Nations garden.

Everyone is fascinated by the Insectarium and its amazing collection of creepy-crawlies. You'll be mesmerized by huge, hairy tarantulas and sleepy-eyed snakes, and you won't want to leave the Butterfly House where millions of delicately-coloured butterflies flit about freely.

Next, at the Biodôme, explore the wonders of four of the earth's ecosystems-rocky landscapes, tumbling waterfalls and majestic trees are home to mammals, birds and fish, that climb, fly and swim in their natural habitats.

Finally, tour Olympic Park and take the funicular up the tallest inclined tower in the world for a truly spectacular-virtually endless-view of the city and its surrounding areas. In summer, stay as the Stadium roof is rolled back and the Expos, Montréal's boys of summer, play ball under the stars.

Life is a Festival

Whether it's reproducing the belly laugh at the Just For Laughs Festival, or painting the town every colour of the rainbow during Divers/Cité, Montréal's Lesbian and Gay Pride Celebrations' week, Montréal parties longer, harder and way more often than any place on earth. In fact, during peak festival season, you can't walk half a block without being invited to join a street party, a parade or some other joyous manifestation.

Actually, all these festivals are a natural extension of the passionate nature of Montrealers and their propensity to share their passions with the whole world. Entire blocks are closed to traffic and stages are set up for a lineup of free concerts and film screenings—leaving plenty of room in the streets for the party. And there's always something for the whole family to enjoy because every festival has a soft spot for the little ones—many of whom have been initiated to the joys of jazz, comedy, cinema and exotic food at one or another of Montréal's festivals.

The fun starts in winter, with la fête des Neiges and the Montréal High Lights Festival, and goes nonstop through the whole year, with such mega-favourites as the Festival International de Jazz, the Air Canada Grand Prix, the Montréal International Fireworks Competition, the Festival international de nouvelle danse, and too many film festivals to count. Food, of course, and everything else palatable, is major cause for celebration in this legendary gastronomic mecca, with such deliciously inspired events as Les Fêtes Gourmandes Internationales and the Mondial de la bière (beer Festival).

The Time of Your Life

At night, Montréal catches a second wind and the action shifts over to comedy clubs, porto, martini, and wine bars. Weekends start early on Thursday nights as bars and terrasses along Crescent and Saint-Denis Streets along with Saint-Laurent Boulevard fill up right after work for the traditional 5 à 7—a misnomer, really, because they're usually carried on well into the evening at favourite eating spots. By then it's clubbing time until the wee, wee hours as bars and clubs have their «last call» at 3 a.m.

Lovers can dine and dance the evening away on a romantic river cruise down the majestic St. Lawrence River, before heading to Montréal's glittering Casino—open all night, every night—to play or to catch a show at the Cabaret. Sports fans have the pick of a crop of professional sports events: football, soccer, and, of course, NHL hockey, featuring Montréal's much-beloved «Habs». And everyone and anyone is invited to party on the wild side in the city's very happening gay Village.

Over at the Pepsi Forum Entertainment Centre, the biggest of its kind, you can play virtually every hi-tech game ever invented and then catch a free show. Club Med World Montréal has also brought its particular brand of entertainment to Montréal, offering a relaxed, vacation-like atmosphere with all the games and animation you'd expect.

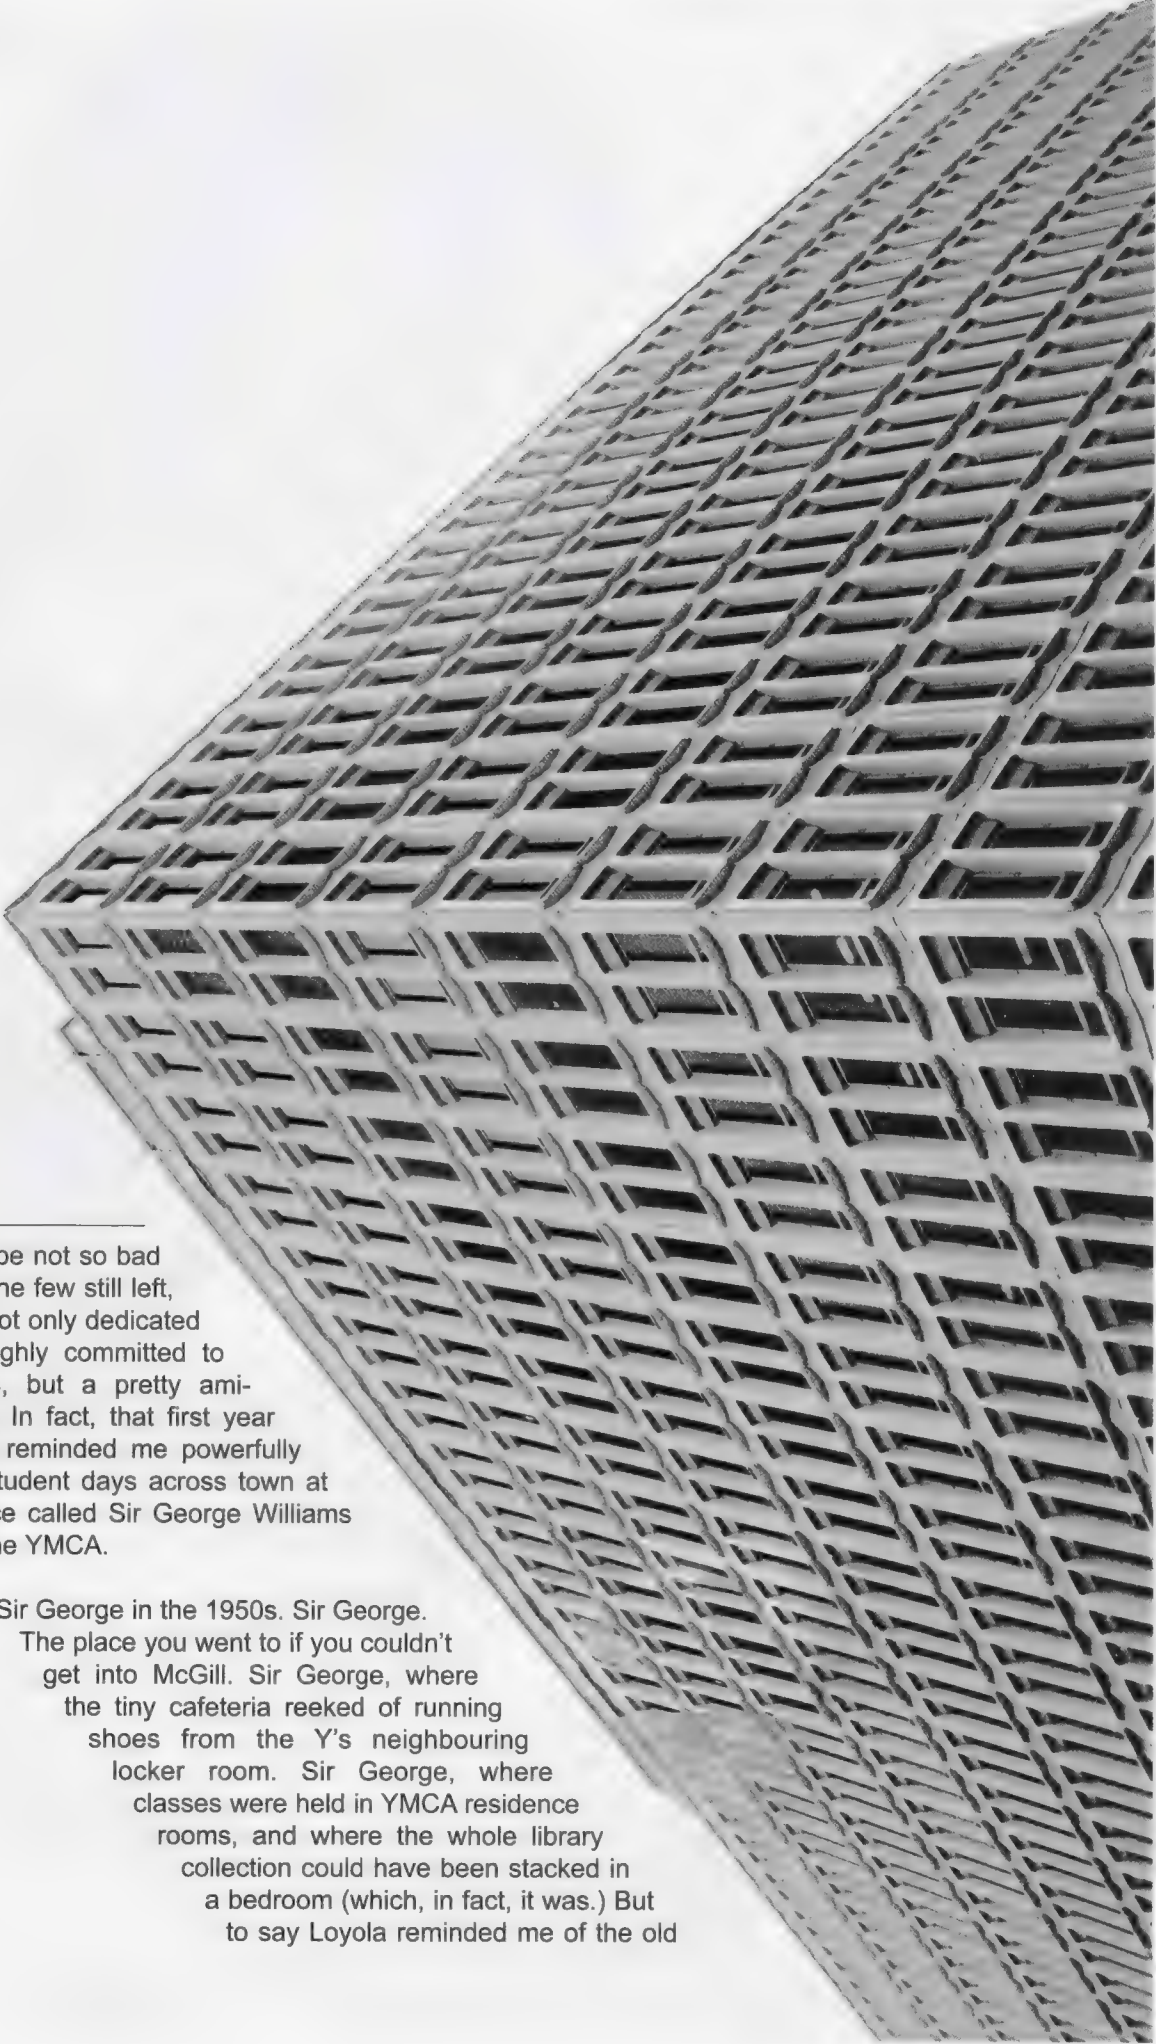

Concordia

From then to now by Graeme Decarie

The merger of Loyola and Sir George that created Concordia University happened in 1975 and, oh, there was anguish in the land. Tears were shed at each college over the destruction of fine, old traditions. Fiery speeches were made calling down the wrath of the gods. Even years after the merger was a done deal, some faculty still muttered darkly about the sins of the other side, and avoided the shuttle bus as though it were Charon's ferry to hell.

It was just a few years before the merger, 1972, when I signed on as a faculty member at Loyola College. Loyola. The name had long brought to my Protestant mind images of shadowy halls with scurrying forms of black-frocked Jesuits planning who knows what dark deeds. (Though for all I knew about its evil, I had, of course, never actually been inside the place.) I was pleasantly surprised when it turned out to be not so bad at all. The Jesuits, the few still left, turned out to be not only dedicated teachers thoroughly committed to their students, but a pretty amiable bunch. In fact, that first year at Loyola reminded me powerfully of my student days across town at a place called Sir George Williams of the YMCA.

Sir George in the 1950s. Sir George. The place you went to if you couldn't get into McGill. Sir George, where the tiny cafeteria reeked of running shoes from the Y's neighbouring locker room. Sir George, where classes were held in YMCA residence rooms, and where the whole library collection could have been stacked in a bedroom (which, in fact, it was.) But to say Loyola reminded me of the old

Sir George is a high compliment because the old Sir George was one of the best educational institutions I have known.

For all the anguish and fears of lost traditions at the time of the merger of Sir George and Loyola, the reality is that those two schools were made for each other. Sir George had been founded in defiance of all those things most universities lust after. It had no snobbery, no scrambling for reputation, no posing on the academic stage. It existed for only one reason, to serve its students. That, for example, is why it pioneered the terribly, terrible working class idea of evening courses and part time studies. That's why I remember its principal, Henry Hall, as one of the few university administrators ever to deserve the title of educator.

Perhaps that is why I felt so much at home at Loyola in 1972. It, too, had been founded to serve its community rather than to blow its own, academic horn. I arrived just as its Rector, Father S.G. Malone, was completing sweeping changes that updated its curriculum and faculty without ever forgetting that the school's main concern was its students.

So, when the merger came in 1975, I didn't join the general wailing and gnashing of teeth about lost traditions. I knew that the reality, the happy reality, was that the two schools had everything in common.

Twenty-eight years on, and the doubters have been proven right in one respect. We're no longer the tight, little communities we were. Administrators, who one moved and chatted among us on a daily basis, who once knew most of the students as well as they knew most of the faculty, now move in heavens so remote we can only dream of them. With Concordia's enrollment of over 30,000 students, it could scarcely be otherwise.

But size has brought advantages, too. One of the first moves of the new Concordia was to create a system of colleges and centres, enormously improving our ability to serve particular interests or particular groups. Liberal Arts College, for example, offers a richer programme than is normally possible in a small university. The Centre for Mature Students re-creates a sense of community for a group increasingly important to the university.

Size has also brought advantages for Concordia's profile in Canada and abroad. Size has made possible more facilities and more scholars and scientists for research. It has made possible departments that rank with the best. Just how much that means was brought home to me on a visit to a university in China. «Ah,» said one of the teachers, «you're in the history department at Concordia. You must know professor X. His work is well known in our schools.» And what that means is that students no longer come here because they can't get into another school. They come here because this is the first choice.

If that were the whole story, it really wouldn't be all that much to cheer about. If that were the whole story, Concordia would be just another big university with the usual advantages and failings of a big university. They all have famous researchers. They all have at least some outstanding departments. But that isn't the whole story at Concordia.

Loyola and Sir George were both founded to serve their communities. Most universities never had that focus to begin with. Those that did usually lost it as they grew and joined the race for the bubble prestige. But Concordia never did lose it. It shows, in a formal way, with Concordia's pioneering efforts to serve handicapped students and with its ombuds office that brings human consideration to the machinery of a large institution.

But it's not just in these formal ways that Concordia serves its students. It's also through a faculty and, most especially, through an office staff that have never forgotten who they serve. Of all universities I have seen, Concordia is still the leader in serving its students and its community. Twenty-eight years later, the old traditions of Loyola and Sir George are alive and well at Concordia.

Donald Boisvert, Dean of Students

A party to honour Donald Boisvert as he steps down as Dean of Students to return to teaching full-time at Concordia was held March 11, 2003. Dr. Boisvert was Dean of Students from 1996-2003. Faculty, staff and students all paid tribute to the significant impact he made during his tenure. His genuine concern for the quality of student life at the university coupled with his great sense of humour, and his commitment to fair play will be sorely missed. Our loss is academia's gain!!

16-24 NOVEMBRE 2002

Saint-Etienne International Biennale

The eagerly awaited third edition of the Saint-Etienne International Biennale took place last November. The Design event presented works by designers from all over the world in a 400,000-square-meter space and the venues of local partners. Among them were the Ecole des Beaux-Arts, the Musée d'Art Moderne, the Musée d'Art et d'Industrie, the Musée de la Mine, the Ecole d'Architecture, the Espace le Corbusier, the city of Firminy, the Tourette Convent and the Centre d'Architecture Rhône-Alpes.

These design and architecture-related institutions and places had all played a role in this regional event with an international reputation.

The International Exposition, held at the Parc des Expositions, provided an inventory of international design, bringing together the work of independent designers, agencies, companies and design centers from some one hundred countries to examine the «civilization of the object.»

Design in Quebec

Design in Quebec is a young discipline. The term as it is generally understood covers the design of the objects and furnishings to the same extent as industrial design, but taken in its wider sense includes graphic design, town planning and fashion design. The creative process in design follows multiple paths. Some designers choose to work with industry, whether this be big or small. Acting in the belief that design is a factor in commercial success, they pick up the gauntlet of individuality and quality in order to further the conquest of the international market. Other designers have a local or alternative clientele, pushing back the boundaries of architecture and design. In connivance with their clients, they aim to improve the quality of fragments of our familiar environment, here a street corner deconstructed by the introduction of a service station, there a motorway punctuated by warehouses, or again to give character to places devoted to business or to social interaction, such as boutiques, restaurants and cafes. For some, the detritus of consumer society becomes the raw material for a new and different, small-scale production. Quebec's involvement in the 2002 Saint-Etienne Biennial Festival, led by the Centre for Design at Quebec University in Montreal, offers a contrast between specialist industrial products created to take up the challenge of globalisation and objects and places taken from local and multi-disciplinary practices, little ways of using what you have to contribute to the betterment of the day-to-day environment. In all, 15 designers and companies were present, including Bombardier, with its new recreational vehicles. Among the innovations presented at Quebec's stand was the urban furniture designed by Michel Dallaire, also winner of the Grande Bibliothèque du Québec's recent furniture competition and other presentations will include the best student projects from Quebec's design schools including the Department of «Design Art» at Concordia University, and the Commerce Design Montreal initiative (a selection of the best-designed shops).

The Department of Design Art at Concordia University

Offering a 3-year study programme unique in its area, the Department of Design Art places the emphasis on the interdependence of design, arts, humanities and applied sciences. The expression of personal creativity and aesthetic sensibility is developed in parallel with technical skills; additionally, the programme emphasises the need to question the environmental and social consequences of design more deeply, as well as the cultural and ethical responsibilities of the designer. Students are introduced to the basics of multiple facets of design, whether the graphics aspect, object design or digital technologies. This department also offers a postgraduate qualification in Design and Digital Technology, as well as a Certificate in Digital Image and Sound.

Every year, the Concordia Council for Student Life gives out awards to Concordia students, faculty and staff for outstanding contribution to student life or services at the University. The awards night, hosted by the Dean of Students, Dr. Charles Bertrand, was held on April 11 in the SGW Faculty Club.

The honoured recipients are:

Sobia Virk was given a Media Award for her coverage for The Link of the substantial growth of the Muslim Students Association, and her other activities to promote the interests of Muslim students on the board of governors, university senate and other bodies.

Tim McSorley, a writer for The Concordian, got a Media Award for his dedication and helpfulness to both student newspapers. Yves Engler, in his nomination, said that McSorley «has the journalistic knack. He has that combination of being informed and being able to write clearly . . . Like any serious journalist, he understands his role in shaping the world.»

Awards for Teaching Excellence went to sociology professor William Reimer and mechanical engineering professor Rama Bhat. Tara Lyons, who signed her nomination «A Grateful Student,» paid tribute to Reimer's innovative use of technology, availability to students, fairness and enthusiasm. Fran Shaver got a laugh with a life-sized sign of her husband's face, and expressed his gratitude and regret that travel prevented him from accepting the award in person.

For Professor Bhat, it was a busy day, as he presided over a prize-giving in his own department at lunchtime and then received his own award later in the day.

Three students who signed his nomination wrote that as well as being chair of the Department of Mechanical and Industrial Engineering, Bhat «has more graduate students under him than any other professor in the department . . . He makes sure that every one in the class understands the subject properly. He gives a lot of importance to basic concepts, which are essential to engineering students.»

Merit Awards were given to eight people, including Stephan Herman, chief electoral officer for student union elections two years in a row during a particularly turbulent period in student politics. Bilal Hamideh, who presented the award, praised Herman for impartiality and efficiency.

Merit Awards were also presented to Arlene Zimmerman, secretary in CONCAVE, the engineering facility located on St. Jacques St., halfway between the two campuses; to Amir Al-Shourbaji, vice-president of the Muslim Students Association; to Laurel Smith, student life advisor in Fine Arts, for her help with the Art Matters festival and other initiatives to promote students' work; and the administrative staff of the International Students Office, Claudette Fortier, Pat Hardt, Jenny Calder and Claire Beaudreault.

Outstanding Contribution Awards were presented to Seanna Miller, vice-president academic in the John Molson School of Business; Bilal Hamideh, president of the Muslim Students Association for the past three years; Stefania Traglia, for her contributions to graduate students in the sociology program; Emily Pearlman and Craig Desson, organizers of this year's edition of Art Matters; and Peter Tragoulias, president of CASA, the business students association.

The awards committee comprised Charles Bertrand, Fran Shaver, Reine Perreault, Bilal Hamideh, André Munro and Keith Pruden.

The 2002-'03 Concordia Stingers men's basketball team was a very young and athletic group that slowly grew into its winning ways. Concordia started the QSSF season with three straight losses, but gradually turned it around. A strong showing at the UBC tournament over the holidays gave the team something to build on. The Stingers went on to finish with an 8-7 record, good for second place in the Quebec conference. A dominant 76-61 victory over the Bishop's Gaiters in the semifinals, and the Stingers were rolling. With momentum on their side, the players defeated the No. 4-ranked Laval Rouge in Game 1 of the conference finals, but then lost two straight to end the season.

Concordia relied on QSSF first team all-star Phil Langlois to run the floor. Forward Patrick Perrotte was also a first team all-star and fifth-year guard Gavin Musgrave was a second team QSSF all-star.

The 2002-'03 women's basketball team completed its up-and-down season with an overall record of 9-18. Highlights of the season, which featured the toughest schedule in CIS basketball, included a win over the Manitoba Bisons, a challenging three-game tour of Newfoundland with the Memorial Sea-Hawks and hosting the prestigious eight-team Nike tournament over the holiday break. In league play, the Stingers finished in third place with a 5-10 record and lost to the Bishop's Gaiter 66-59 in the QSSF semifinal. Individual honours went to guard Pascale Morin, who was named a first team all-star, and M.J. Raposo, who was a second team all-star.

The Concordia football team, playing an exceptionally tough schedule, posted a 4-4 win-loss record and finished in third place. The Stingers charged into the playoffs and knocked off the Laval Rouge et Or, a perennial powerhouse in Quebec university football. The team then lost a hard-fought, emotional battle 10-6 to the McGill Redmen in the Dunsmore Cup championship game. Captain David Aiken was recognized as both an outstanding football player and citizen for his contributions. He was named an All-Canadian and was a nominee for the Russ Jackson Trophy, presented annually to the football player who best combines athletics, citizenship and academics. The story of how he draws his courage and strength from his mother, who suffers from multiple sclerosis, was featured on the front page of the Montreal Gazette on Nov. 10, 2002.

All-star honors went to Aiken, Jean-Michel Paquette, Darrell Wood and Troy Cunningham. At Concordia athletic banquet, linebacker Pat Donovan was honored as the Fittest Male Athlete.

It was a challenging year for the Concordia men's hockey team. The Stingers posted a 9-13 -2 win-loss-tie record and finished fourth in the in the OUA Far East. Overall the team had a 13-16-3 record, which includes three wins and one loss from an exciting four-game, 10-day tour of Germany. «It was a great life experience for every member of the team,» said head coach Kevin Figsby.

It was an exciting year for left wing Chris Page who was the recipient of the Dr. Robert J. Brodrick Award, which is presented annually to the Concordia Male Athlete of the Year. He scored 25 goals and 17 assists for 42 points in 24 games. He is the first Stinger since 1989 to score 25 goals. He was second in the conference in scoring and seventh in the country. The graduating senior signed a professional contract with the Missouri River Otters of the UHL. Also, Patrice Theriault, a first-year defenceman, was named to the OUA All-Rookie Team.

The Concordia women's hockey team finished the season with a 19-8-1 overall record. In league play, the Stingers finished in second place with a 14-6 record and were upset by the Ottawa Gee-Gees in the Quebec conference semifinals. The final score was 7-6 in overtime.

A high point of the season came Feb. 7 when head coach Les Lawton recorded his 500th career victory with a 6-2 win over the UQTR Patriotes. Other outstanding individual accomplishments include All-Canadian honors for forward Marie-Claude Allard and defender Sue Kaye. Allard was also named Concordia's Female Athlete of the Year. Kaye and forward Dominique Rancour were invited to national team training camps by Team Canada.

The Concordia men's rugby team enjoyed a strong season under the direction of rookie head coach Graeme McGravie, who did an excellent job of shaping a young and inexperienced team. The Stingers finished in second place in the Quebec conference with a 6-2 win-loss record. In post-season play the team defeated Bishop's 20-8 in the semifinals and then lost 14-10 to McGill in the Quebec championship.

Jon Chiniborch, Stewart McNab, Chris Cesari and Rob Ahnert were named to the QSSF all-star list. Jason Rhee was honored with a Merit Award for his contributions to the department of athletics.

Front: Melanie Tranchemontagne, Melissa Dykeman, Dionne Shaffer, Victoria Stewart, Julie Bertrand, Sommer Christie

The Concordia women's rugby posted a 6-2 record during the regular season with both losses coming at the hands of the powerhouse McGill Martlets. The Stingers defeated the Ottawa Gee-Gees 27-0 in the semifinal before losing in the Quebec championship game 49-10 to the Martlets. Captain Sommer Christie and rookie Krista MacKay earned All-Canadian honors, and joined teammates Melissa Dykeman and Andreane L'Ecuyer on the QSSF all-star team. Christie, who led the team this season with 80 points, was named the outstanding female university athlete in Canada by Women In Networking (WIN). She also received a Merit Award for contributions to the department at Concordia athletic banquet.

Missing Dr. James Sawler (assistant coach)

The Concordia men's soccer team enjoyed a strong campaign despite early-season concerns about the youth of the team. The Stingers finished in third place in the Quebec conference with a 6-4-2 record. Coach Vladimir Pavlicik's team lost 2-0 in the semifinal to the McGill Redmen. Forward Ammar Badawieh was the Quebec MVP and an All-Canadian. The Stingers can boast of four all-star honors – Badawieh, Mehdi Mourali, Steven McCauley and Steven Craig. Mourali also received the Rector's Award, which is presented annually to the top student in the department.

The Concordia Stingers women's soccer team, under the direction of first-year head coach Jorge Sanchez, reached great new heights. With a 7-4-3 Quebec conference record, the team was above .500 for the first time since 1993. In addition, the Stingers won their season series with cross-town rivals, the McGill Martlets, for the first time ever with a 1-0-2 record, including a heart-stopping 1-0 victory (5-4 on penalty kicks) in the semifinals. The playoff victory over McGill broke a 23-game winless streak (19-0-4) dating back to October of 1993. It was also Concordia's first playoff victory in more than a decade. The Stingers eventually lost to Université Laval 2-0 in the conference championship.

The fall campaign also produced a number of prestigious individual honors. Second-year forward Jerusha Osbourne was named Quebec and Canadian university athlete of the week for the period ending Oct. 14. Osbourne went on to earn a place on the QSSF first all-star team. Forward Shannon Ransom was also a first team all-star, while goalie Ingrid Dubuc and defender Valerie Desjardins received second team honors. Ransom was also named Concordia Female Rookie of the Year at the annual Stinger athletic banquet.

The Canadian Society for Civil Engineering at Concordia

C.S.C.E - Concordia is the student chapter for the professional association of building, civil and environmental engineers. C.S.C.E - Concordia provides access to the professional association, organizes events for Concordia and other engineering students, and provides services for the students in the department. C.S.C.E - Concordia is comprised of a 13 member executive council and C.S.C.E student members, but all events are open to everyone in the Department. The corner stone event of our society has always been the international Bridge Building Competition. The participants are tasked to construct a bridge made entirely out of Popsicle sticks, white glue and dental floss. Past winning bridges have held as much as 4500 lbs. Other events for this year are Construction Site Tours, where we will take you on a tour of the largest construction sites in the Montreal area. We will also be running several Construction Safety courses throughout the year. Beer& Pizzas are also on the agenda, where you can come relax and converse with students and professors alike.

(without the dot.risk).

It's an MBA
(without the IOU).

And it's all mine.

Running a business appealed to me. But let's face it, there's never a venture capitalist around when you need one. So I was open to Enterprise. Here they train me to run a profit center, manage people and handle myself in business settings. It's like my own startup, backed by a $6.5 billion company.

Enterprise isn't funny uniforms. It's dressing professionally, conducting sales calls, planning logistics. Easy? No. But people who succeed here aren't afraid to prove themselves, or have fun together. And now that I have the potential to outearn most MBAs, I look forward to doing both.
